

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A real-time situation report system and method are disclosed herein. Through a network environment, a server host on one end and a mobile electronic networking device on another end are connected. Situation messages are transmitted to users using a transfer protocol.

- 5 With the operation of the system and method, users can know of what is happening from a moving or fixed terminal.